James Brooks, of New York, and the Hon. Reverdy Johnson, of Baltimore, on the State of the Country and the Way to Avert the Peril Which Threatens It My Dear Sir Your letter of the 18th of June was duly received. The delay in answering it I do not now regret, as what has since occurred will enable me to do so proba bly to more advantage than I could have done before. The question with the people now is - which of the two will they have for their next President, U. S. Grant or Horace Greeley The former, during the past three years, in the judgment of all impartial men, has proved his utter unfit ness for the office; the latter, during a period of more than thirty years, as the editor of a leading journal, has proved himself, in the judgment of all impartial and com petent men, to be a man of extraordinary ability, perfect patriotism, and incorruptible integrity. Has not General Grant demonstrated his unfitness for the Presidency? His...
