D The biography of a great scientist, whose years have been wedded to certain departments in the commonwealth of knowledge, is but the record of empirical researches, discoveries and inventions realized in the quiet retirement of the laboratory, divorced from the exciting events of the his toric period by which he may have been surrounded. This was particularly the case with Professor J. Lawrence Smith, whose devotion to his profession of chemistry, geology and mineralogy excluded active participancy in the memorable incidents through which he passed. In the peaceful paths of science, he continued to prosecute his favorite studies with the earnest and sublime devotion that have earned for him the highest honors his own and European countries could bestow, and have constituted him one of America s most distinguished savants.
