

Slightly Spooky: Several Short Stories Set on and Around the Italian Riviera

By Carolyn McKenzie

Createspace, United States, 2014. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .The three short stories in this book are all inspired by experiences that I have had while living in Ventimiglia Alta, a medieval village perched on a headland overlooking the western Italian Riviera and nearby French Cote d Azur. Centuries Apart and A Grave Mistake may very loosely be described as gentle ghost stories. Re-Routed features specters of an entirely different sort. Terrifying, horrifying and frightening they most definitely are not. In Re-Routed, Centuries Apart and A Grave Mistake I will take you from the magnificent scenic railway line that links the mountainous Riviera hinterland to Northern Italy s fertile Po Valley plains; to the millenniums-old Roman road that crosses the world-famous Hanbury Botanic Gardens, and finally to a graveyard in a small French town just a few kilometers across the Italian-French border from Ventimiglia. Each story is accompanied by a short explanation which accurately places it in its historical and present-day context: if you have already visited this region you will recognize the places where I have set my stories: only the people, with the exception of...
