Not illustrated. 1911 Excerpt: . conscientious worker who doubts whether her education has been sufficient to warrant her taking up the art of teaching. Although now twenty-nine years old, and has had frequent periods of study since the age of nine, some of them having been prolonged for three years at a time tinder excellent teachers, yet she has scruples as to her degree of advancement being sufficient so that she can begin teaching and honestly recommend herself to any constituents she may obtain. Drawing conclusions from S. L. s letter, I can only say that if her study has been properly directed, earnestly studied, and industriously practiced, she is now no inconsiderable musician. I have known many so-called graduates who could plav a Chopin Ballade or a Beethoven Sonata as trained by a teacher but who beyond that knew practically nothing. When presented with a new piece they were helpless in the extreme, showing that they had not even learned to read and interpret the notes, just like children who could recite a passage from Shakespeare by rote, but could not read the printed page. But S. L. indicates far more than this as the result of her somewhat fragmentary education. Although not taken consecutively, yet this should not prevent it having been assimilated in such manner that she can readily bring it to her command. The greatest criticism I have to offer is that she is too distrustful of her own ability. This often proves a great hindrance...
