Not illustrated. 1845 Excerpt: .and very brilliant. Though I was a king, I had never seen such a precious stone. I accepted it, and made the merchant many rich presents, and gave him passports for the roads; that throughout my empire no one should ask him any duties; that he should meet kindness, and be treated with attention wherever he went; that he should be waited on and have guards for his protection, and that they should consider any loss he might experience as their own. The merchant attended the audience constantly, and was well versed in the forms of respect due to royalty; his conversation was eloquent, and the anecdotes he related were worth hearing. I used to send for the Ruby daily from the jewel office, and amuse myself by looking at it at the time of public audience. (152) Budukhshan is a part of the grand province of Khorasan, and the city of Bullch is it s metropolis, near which is a chain of mountaing celebrated for producing fine Rubies, called the rubies of Budukhshan. N. B. The iV, with a circumflex over it, is nasal; the French On. (153) All Asiatic princes have spies called the Reporters of Intelligence, who inform themselves of what passes in public and even in private families, and report it to them. They are the pest of society; and generally corrupt. (154) A misqal is four and half mashas; our ounce contains twenty four mashas. So the Ruby weighed nearly an...
