He said Latter-day Saints should at all times be ready to respond to a call to speak the word of the Lord. If they will store up in their minds the truths that have been given, they will be prepared to meet any emergency. Elder Smith referred to the addresses of the three educators who spoke at the opening session of conference. No good man, he said, can come under the influence of a gathering of Latter-day Saints and imbibe the spirit of the occasion and not say something good. He referred especially to the comment of Dr. Thomas Nixon Carver, who said, in effect, that if he were looking for an example of nation building he could find none better than that of the Mormons. In comment Elder Smith said he should like to add to Dr. Carver's observation that this is God's work: it is not a people going alone and accomplishing a great purpose. He referred to a speech made to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, who said, in effect, that there will be no abatement of the world's evils until simple faith in God is restored. God's people, Elder Smith said, are trustees, Theirs is the responsibility of warning the nations of the earth. The world has turned away from God, peoples have heaped unto themselves idols. History repeats itself, said Elder Smith. God is warning the world through his servants as he warned it in the days of Noah. Noah preached repentance 120 years. In this dispensation thousands of Elders with the divine authority to...
