The superficial reflexes are normal, but the knee-jerk is absent in both legs. As tested by faradism, the solei and gastrocnemii are found to be normal, while there is no reaction in the extensors of the knee or flexors of the hip. In the other muscles of the body the reaction is normal but feeble. This is probably due to wasting. While he walks, a very marked lordosis is observable, the shoulders being thrown far back, and the lumbar curve greatly exaggerated. The gait is waddling, the upper part of the body swaying from side to side, and there is a distinct tendency to walk on the toes. When laid on the floor, he rises in the characteristic fashion, --first rolling on to his face, then getting on all-fours, and finally climbing up the thighs. Mentally...
