The solution to be tested is then introduced, either wholly or in aliquot part, which may be determined by weighing or measuring. In the former case we use a side-neck test tube of about 30 c.c. capacity, and weigh to the second decimal place. Unless the amount of arsenic be exceedingly small, it is not necessary to add the whole of the solution, but in that case the volume must be obviously not over 15 c.c., on account of the capacity of the bottle. After introduction of the solution the color appears upon the paper in a few minutes and the deposit reaches its maximum within thirty minutes. The band of color thus obtained is then compared with a set of standard bands. From the amount of arsenic as estimated from the comparison, and the...
