CHAPTER IV Blessed are the Meek Matt. 5: 5 He who passes through the first and second Beatitudes has found the key which unlocks the door of the third. True beggary of the spirit will lead to genuine penitence of the heart, and will not stop there; but will lead on to the submission of the will. The true psychology of character building is in these Beatitudes. The awakening of the moral consciousness is followed by the quickening of the conscience, and this leads straight on to the action of the will. The appreciation of opportunity honestly faced with a courageous sense of responsibility at once involves the need of self-mastery. The only test of self-mastery is bringing the will into actual obedience to one who is worthy to be obeyed. In the study of the second Beatitude we noticed that spiritual discipline involves suffering in various forms, and that this is manifestly Gods law for us. Just here we touch the third Beatitude. What shall be our attitude toward our heavenly Father in the midst of these experiences It will be either one of rebellion, or one of submission. Thus we are in the realm of the human will. This word translated meek is used in its primary meaning as describing the spirit of tamed horses. There is the spirit of gentleness, but it is in no sense negative. It is not that submission of a collapsed will which one sometimes sees in sorrow,...
