Not illustrated. 1868 Excerpt: .place, I will carry it outwards by a pad placed in the axilla; backwards by the figure of eight roller passed alternately over each shoulder and crossing the back and bringing it downwards to confine the arm to the side by two or three turns; and lastly, to put the forearm in a sling which carries it upwards; thus are fulfilled the three principal indications--outwards, backwards and upwards. This is the simplest contrivance for the treatment of this fracture, although Fox s apparatus and Levis s appliance are ingenious and beautiful contrivances for treating these injuries. Case m. Traumatic disorganization of the Eye Extirpa tion, at the Good Samaritan Hospital, of this city.--For the privilege of witnessing the.operation upon this case, gentlemen, you are indebted to the kindness of Professor Hartmann, who has generously yielded me the opportunity of performing the operation of extirpation of the eye; and I trust this noble example of professional generosity towards one who holds the chair of surgery in the institution connected with this hospital, may be the precursor of many examples of like character for your profit and advancement in the field of operative surgery. The case before you is an illustration of complete disorganization, not only of the eye, but of the structures connected with it; and so far as we can learn the history of the case, was produced by a blow from a stick while engaged in chopping wood. The patient has lived in this country...
