Reviews

This is the finest book i have got go through right up until now. I have got read and i also am confident that i am going to planning to read once again yet again in the future. You will not truly feel monotony at at any time of the time (that's what catalogs are for about if you check with me).

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | Buspirone Hydrochloride Buccal Films | Buspirone Hydrochloride is used in the treatment of anxiety. It has a short half life and low oral bioavailability of 5%. Therefore, the purpose of this research was to develop unidirectional Bucco- adhesive films of Buspirone Hydrochloride by solvent casting technique using full factorial designs. HPMC K15M and Eudragit RL-100 were used as polymers in different proportion. Polyethylene glycol 400 was used as plasticizer and Sodium lauryl sulphate was used as permeation enhancer in different concentration. The physicochemical compatibility of the drug and the polymers was studied by FT-IR spectroscopy. The results suggested no physicochemical incompatibility between the drug and the polymers. In full factorial designs, total amount of polymer (X1) and percentage of HPMC K15M (X2) was kept as a independent variables. After wards, statistically optimization process was carried out and two optimized formulation (OF1 and OF2) was developed. The results of optimization formulation showed greater degree of % similarity with predicted values. Stability studies of two optimized formulations were carried out at room temperature as per ICH Q1C guidelines. | Format: Paperback | Language/Sprache: english | 148 pp.
