Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Poultry and Profit Good evening, Mr. Tapley. I ve come around at last for that chat on poultry. You ve told me so often that I ought to keep poultry, I am beginning to think there must be something in it. And so, like the children, I am anxious to know the whys and wherefores. We had not long taken up our abode in the country and having a notion that the small piece Of land attached to our cottage could be turned to good account, I deter mined to get all the information there was to be Obtained ere launching out in this to me, new direction. I had taken the move into the wilds with the chief idea Of seeing if I could add something to my income, because, I do not mind admitting it, I was not overburdened with the good things of this life. As a matter of fact, we were living practically on the outskirts of a town; but since green fields were within sight, and the air was fresh, we were pleased to call it the country. I had selected Mr. Tapley as my guide, philosopher, and friend in the matter, because he had the best garden in the district and he kept some of the choicest fowls I had ever seen. Moreover, I had known him long enough to find out that he was making both the garden and the birds pay. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
