Reviews

The book is fantastic and great. It is definitely basic but shocks in the 50 percent in the pdf. Its been printed in an remarkably basic way and it is just soon after i finished reading this publication in which really changed me, change the way i believe.

THE HERALD OF THE GOLDEN AGE, VOL. 8: SEPTEMBER, 1903 (CLASSIC REPRINT) (PAPERBACK)

Forgotten Books, United States, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Herald of the Golden Age, Vol. 8: September, 1903 I noticed the drovers did not strike the animals, they probed them with their sticks, which had short spikes in the end of them they being limited to time, and the slaughter men, like Oliver Twist, calling out for more, the men have got to use the quickest means to perform their tasks. I then went down a dismal covered roadway under the buildings, leading to the slaughter-houses. Each slaughter-house has got two doorways at either end of it; at the opposite end to that where I was standing were the two doorways that led into the pens in which the bullocks were standing. No doors were needed to prevent the animals from entering the slaughter-house, if. There were any they were not used, the poor victims are allowed to stand and watch all that is gozng on, the poleaxing, skinning, and disembowelling of their fellow-victims. Boys and youths are employed to sweep up and wash down, and in some cases the blood is swept between the legs of the live animals that are waiting their fate. The slaughterman in one house dealt with one animal that gave a lot of trouble; they had to stand clear of his legs, they could not get his head close enough to the ring, so that when the poleaxe struck, it hit the wrong place; three insertions were made before the animal fell, the man was then quick enough to make another blow at the right spot and all was over, then the usual cane was pushed into the brain. I got into conversation with a young man who was not working...
