Realism and the Drama of Reference: Strategies of Representation in Balzac, Flaubert, and James (Paperback)

By H.Meili Steele

Pennsylvania State University Press, United States, 1990. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .In Realism and the Drama of Reference, Meili Steele brings the problem of reference--how language discloses the world--into contemporary critical debates about representation. He explores the potential of reference in the work of three authors in the realistic tradition: Balzac, Flaubert, and James. By defining realism in terms of linguistic practices instead of representational accuracy, this study liberates reference from traditional realist concerns with the empirical universe. Realism thus becomes only one kind of referential practice. The analysis takes up one text by each author--Balzac's Les Illusions perdues, Flaubert's L'Education sentimentale, and James's The Golden Bowl--and considers each with regard to four problems of the realistic novel: the creation of physical and cultural space; the speech of the characters and the relationship of their speech to what the text suggests knowledge to be; the narrator's authority and his interventions; and the representation of the protagonist's experience. By mapping the representational strategies of these three major authors in the history of the novel, this study calls for a reconsideration of the ways in which all...
