Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Survey of the Moral and Religious Forces in the Military Camps and Naval Stations in the United States, May 1, 1918 In December, 1917, the General War-Time Commission of the Churches published a survey of the moral and religious forces in the National Army and the National Guard camps of the country. This preliminary statement seemed to fill a much-felt need and requests came for the issuing of a more comprehensive survey that should cover the whole field confronting the religious forces in their efforts to serve our enlisted men. This booklet, therefore, aims to be a helpful manual of information for those engaged in directing the war-time work of the various religious bodies. Perhaps it may be of interest to others also as setting forth in a concrete way something of the service that the religious forces of our country are rendering in this time of unparalleled opportunity and need. The effort has been made to present a survey that should include not only all the large military camps and naval stations of the country, but also, so far as possible, the smaller posts. Information in varying degrees of completeness is herein given concerning the 30 National Army and National Guard camps, 165 Regular Army camps, posts and aviation fields, and 46 naval stations, a total of 241 military or naval posts. Where several such posts center around a single city they are treated together under the caption of that city. The body of material is classified in three sections: first, National Army and National Guard camps; second, large Regular Army camps and naval stations; third, smaller army posts and naval stations. In the third section are grouped...
