When he died suddenly last year I discovered that he had only three thousand and a few odd pounds in the world. I wrote to the late Mr. Trevor asking him to forgo whatever claim he had upon the estate, as there is a child to support and educate. In his will, which I believe to be invalid as it is neither dated nor witnessed, Colonel O Shaughnessy appointed the late Mr. Trevor to be the child s guardian - this I also mentioned when I wrote, but my letter remained unanswered. I am therefore writing to ask you whether, if you have the intention of calling in money due to the late Mr. Trevor, you will be good enough to waive any legal claim you may have to the three thousand pounds, as the claim, if pressed, will leave an unfortunate orphan practically penniless.
