Excerpt from The Spatula, Vol. 1: An Illustrated Monthly Publication for Druggists; February 1895 He began his professional career with Messrs. Canning Patch, Boston, where he remained five years, only leaving them to enter business for himself as a proprietor, at the corner of Charles and Chestnut Streets, Boston. In March, 1888, he purchased the store, 65 Cambridge Street, in which he has since been located. This is one of the oldest drug sites in Boston, and has been occupied by a pharmacy for almost one hundred years. Mr. Leavitt finds no difficulty in keeping up the reputation of the establishment, and if its future depends upon its present success it has as long a life before it as it has behind it.
