Excerpt from Popular Government, Vol. 33: March, 1967 In 1914 the Library moved again, this time to the present State Library Building, then called the Administration Building. That structure is on the south side of Morgan Street, between Salisbury Street and Fayetteville Street, facing the Capitol, and its dedication ceremonies were held February 1, Finally, in July, the Supreme Court moved into its present home, the six - story justice Building on the south side of Morgan Street, between Fayetteville Street and Wilmington Street, facing the Capitol. The supreme Court Library then consisted of approximately 22 volumes, and most of them were shelved on the justice Building's fifth floor, where the Library offices were and are located.
